

How To Get A Full House On Three-Of-A-Kind.

 No two broiler houses are exactly alike. That's why Elanco developed the three-dimensional approach to cocci control. Not just products. But a whole program of products you can use to tailor your cocci program for precisely the results you want. You'll never need more than three-of-a-kind.

a synergistic combination of granulated nicarbazin and narasin that offers more control than either of its components. And since its level of nicarbazin is low, you get the added benefit of far fewer summer side effects.

It's your call.

No matter what your challenge or the time of year, the three-dimensional approach to cocci control always lets you deal your own hand. Use Coban, Monteban or Maxiban. Vary the dosage of each. The possibilities are endless.

Up the ante.
In cooler months, deal yourself lower feed costs with Coban. Used in either a straight or rotational anticoccidial program, Coban is still the industry standard for controlling costs with superior feed-conversion ratios.

In warmer weather, stack the deck with Monteban. Even in the heat of summer, Monteban gives you the performance you need. And now approved with Flavomycin or with Roxarsone and with Roxarsone plus BMD, Monteban is your best summer option.

Or, to complete your hand, try Maxiban—

How to find out more.

At Elanco, service is multi-dimensional too. For information on developing your own three-dimensional approach to cocci control, contact your Elanco sales rep or animal science field rep today. And deal your cocci program a winning hand.

Making A Habit Of Making A Difference.